

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this successful remedy is made impresses even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attends the making of this great medicine for woman's ills.

Over 350,000 pounds of various herbs are used annually and all have to be gathered at the season of the year when their natural juices and medicinal substances are at their best.

The most successful solvents are used to extract the medicinal properties from these herbs.

Every utensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized and as a final precaution in cleanliness the medicine is pasteurized and sealed in sterile bottles.

It is the wonderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its preparation which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

a few cents

Magic! Just drop a little Freezone on that touchy corn, instantly it stops aching, then you lift the corn off with the fingers. Truly! No humbug!

Try Freezone! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle for a few cents, sufficient to rid your feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and calluses, without one particle of pain, soreness or irritation. Freezone is the discovery of a noted Cincinnati genius.

General Pershing's War Map.

In installing General Pershing's war map in the old National Museum building in Washington, the commander's room at the front just as it looked when the map was in actual use, is being reproduced as a setting. Here will be the chairs used by the general and his aids while they studied the map, which changed hourly, night and day, as reports came in and were recorded. The table at which the officers looked over documents will stand as it used to at one side, and the walls will be covered with the identical lineoleum that was a background for the map. The map was brought over in pieces now joined together, and the conventional design of the lineoleum is said to give an odd kitchenlike domesticity to the room in which General Pershing watched history writing itself in a very literal sense on the wall.

A Fair Proposition.

"Mr. Grabco, I've saved up $3,000 and I want to marry your daughter."

"Do you realize that $3,000 won't last long nowadays?"

"Oh, yes, sir. But it ought to take care of us for at least six months and at the end of that time if I haven't convinced you that I'm an ideal son-in-law you needn't do a thing for us."

As we have to live with ourselves we should see to it that we always have good company.

Authors' Handwriting.
If readers and admirers of the polished sentences of popular authors could see the original manuscripts from which their works are printed they would be given interesting sidelights on the character and personality of the writers. The handwriting of G. K. Chesterton has been described by an English editor as "shocking." W. W. Jacobs, comedy writer of the sea, has all his literary work typed and makes but few corrections on the finished manuscript. Other English writers whose copy is reputed to be neat and quite acceptable to a printer are H. G. Wells, Rudyard Kipling, Arnold Bennett and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. Editors say they never know what to expect from that imaginative genius, H. de Vere Stacpoole. Sometimes his work is neatly typed on good paper, but often it is scribbled to sheets torn from a copybook.

PEACE TERMS ARE UPHELD IN FINAL REPLY TO ENEMY

Few Changes as Allies Stand
Pat on the Big Points.

GERMANS MUST SIGN TREATY BY MONDAY

Armies Are Ready to Move Eastward
If Acceptance Is Not Prompt—Justice
Is Demanded for 7,000,000 Dead
Because of Prussian Brutality.

Paris, June 17.—The "big four's" last word about peace terms was handed to the German delegation shortly before seven o'clock Monday evening. Its delivery was delayed by a several hours' wrangle over one of the chief concessions—civilian control of the occupied Rhine districts. Again France's "Tiger" won his point after a long and fiery debate. The concession was stricken from the amended document.

Immediately upon receipt of the document Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, president of the German peace delegation, left by special train for Weimar. There he will submit them to President Ebert who, in turn, will lay them before his cabinet—of which Rantzau, as foreign minister, is a member—preparatory to sending them in the national assembly. That body, according to all recent news from Germany, is to decide on the final "yes" or "no."

Clemenceau Lashes Germans.

With the revised treaty Paul Dastais, secretary of the peace conference, handed Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau a 4,500-word "covering" letter, written by Clemenceau. It is a bitter denunciation of Germany's bickering attitude, a stinging recapitulation of her war crimes, an explanation of the treaty modifications, and an ultimatum. It tells the Germans flatly that no further attempts at bargaining will be tolerated; that they must answer "yes" or "no," and do so within five days.

This means that by six o'clock this coming Saturday evening she must notify the powers without any "ifs" and "buts" and "howevers," whether she will or will not sign.

After that notification she will have three additional days of grace in which to affix her signature to the treaty. If her answer Saturday is "yes," the diplomatic and ceremonial machinery will be set in motion for the greatest green-table event in history, and the world will have peace not later than a week from tomorrow. If she says "no," five days hence, the peace-makers will lay aside their pens and tell Foch to go ahead. His sword is sharp and half unsheathed, ready for the "coup de grace." He would promptly inform the Germans by wireless that the armistice is off and the war will be on again beginning at six o'clock Tuesday night, June 24. The three fateful days between Saturday and Tuesday are the last in which the Germans may choose between utter military-economic subjection and peace.

In Clemenceau's "take-it-or-leave-it" letter he admits that the treaty is a hard one, but he adds that its hardness is fully justified by Germany's course in plunging the world into the abyss of war and by her methods during the conflict. He tells them practically in so many words that, having unleashed the world calamity, they must suffer for it.

The revised treaty of peace contains assurance of membership in the League of Nations "in the early future," provided Germany fulfills her obligations.

This is a considerable concession, though it does not meet the German demand for admittance to membership immediately upon the signing of peace.

The new document meets the German demand for co-operation with a German reparations commission.

It also puts the powers on record as willing to receive suggestions for discharging the German reparational obligation.

This opens the way to oral discussions the Germans asked for—but not until peace is signed. It removes the grounds on which the Germans charged infringement on their sovereignty and national pride, in the reparational transactions.

Another change in the treaty text provides for the plebiscite in upper Silesia for which the Germans had asked. It also guarantees coal from that province (presumably in the event that the plebiscite goes against Germany).

Drop Kiel Canal Question.

The original proposal of an international commission for the administration of the Kiel canal has been

ARMY WORM HITS CORN BELT

Many Fields in Central Illinois Are Destroyed by Pests' Advance—Situation Serious.

Decatur, Ill., June 17.—The corn belt of the world has been invaded by the army worm, one of the greatest destroyers of crops. One week ago the worm was found at work. Today there are many fields of corn and grain in central Illinois that are complete losses. Each day brings scores of reports of new fields invaded. In Macon county farmers worked all day Sunday putting out a poison to stop the invasion and destruction, which threatens to become serious.

Labor Sufficient for Harvest.
Kansas City, Mo., June 17.—That the middle Western wheat crop will not, from present indications, suffer for want of sufficient harvest labor was the declaration of A. L. Burkman, in charge of the federal employment service in this city.

The Germans had declared they would accept such a commission only if other straits were similarly treated (alluding manifestly to the Suez and Panama canals).

Among the modifications also are frontier rectifications in West Prussia. The third zone of the Schleswig plebiscite is omitted in the new draft. The Germans had charged that this zone went further than Denmark herself wished to go.

The Germans are allowed a temporary increase of their army from 100,000 to 200,000, which meets their plea for a sufficient force to maintain law and order in the transition period.

The revised document also contains a declaration of intention to submit within a month of the signature of peace a list of those accused of violations of the laws and customs of war.

The German reply had denied the allies right to extradite and try the Kaiser or any other German citizens. It declared Germany's willingness for an international neutral court to establish the fact of crime, the punishment to be left to the national courts. Germany's claims regarding Danzig are rejected. Danzig is made a free city. Its inhabitants will be autonomous and do not come under Polish rule. Clemenceau's covering letter explains that the city forms no part of the Polish state.

Poland, however, by the treaty, has been given "certain economic rights" in Danzig.

The German reply said: "Danzig, a purely German town, must remain with the German empire, to make it a free city and to surrender certain of its rights to Poland would lead to violent opposition and a continuous state of war in the East." The Germans, however, offered to make Danzig, as well as Koenigsberg, free ports.

Covers Foe's Sins.

Like a judge who, before modifying a sentence, wishes to impress upon the prisoner the full weight of his guilt and pound into his brain the fact that the leniency is really undeserved, Georges Clemenceau, premier of France, explains the revised treaty handed to Germany, lashes the vanquished empire with a bitter, stinging indictment, lest its former or present masters, deeming clemency weakness, rally once more for an attempt to turn defeat into triumph.

History's most momentous peace document, now revised beyond revision, is thus accompanied by the most aggressive, the most flaying diplomatic note on record. It is indeed a "covering" letter, for it covers all the sins of the foe, all his dark deeds before and during the war, and all the reasons why he has been condemned and must suffer for those sins. It is, at the same time, a sharp rebuke to the Teuton peace parliamentaires for "utterly failing to understand the position in which Germany stands today."

This fact, the French premier explains, forces him to open his letter with "a clear statement of the judgment of the world which has been formed by practically the whole civilized mankind." Then he enumerates, not under so many headings, but in smoother and eloquent sequence, the long series of crimes to which, he says, the foe must turn if he seeks the reason for the stern justice of the peace.

Germany, he says, tried for years before the war to dictate and tyrannize over a subservient Europe.

She taught her subjects the doctrine that might was right.

She armed feverishly by land and sea and spread the falsehood that her neighbors were jealous of her.

She developed a widespread system of espionage and intrigue all over the world.

She kept Europe in a ferment by threats of violence.

She encouraged Austria to declare war on Serbia at 48 hours' notice, fully aware that the conflict would become general.

She conducted the war in a savage and inhuman manner.

She violated Belgian neutrality and systematically terrorized that country's inhabitants.

She was the first to use poison gas.

She was the first to bomb and shell defenseless towns.

She caused the deaths of 7,000,000 men, and injuries and sufferings to 20,000,000 others.

Lust for Tyranny.

She did all this—"to gratify her lust for tyranny by resort to war," and her conduct "is almost unexampled in human history."

Then Clemenceau continues:

"The allied and associated powers believe that they would be false to those who have given their all to save the freedom of the world if they consent to treat war on any other basis than as a crime against humanity and right."

He scoffs at the German delegates' charge that their country was tricked into laying down her arms by a set of principles which was not lived up to. These principles are lived up to fully and painstakingly, the French premier avers, and quotes from speeches by himself, President Wilson and Premiers Lloyd George and Orlando.

Vagrant's Fragrance.
"The whisky toper usually eats onions. Deliver me, then, from his proximity in train or theater."
The speaker was Charles L. Chute, secretary of the National Prohibition league.
"An Albany missionary," he went on, "was visiting a jail. He asked a red-neck inmate what his crime had been.
"I didn't do nothing," says red nose.
"Honest to goodness, boss. I didn't do nothin'.
"Well, anyhow, what did they charge you with doing?" said the missionary.
"Turned if I know, boss," said red nose. "As near as I can make out, they put me in here for fragranty."

Doan's Removed the Trouble.

"I was about down and out from kidney trouble," says Harry Griffith, of 228 N. Darlington St., Westchester, Pa. "The kidney secretions burned like scalding water. Sometimes there would be a complete stoppage and, oh, what pain I suffered! My feet became swollen and I had a time of it getting on my shoes.
"My back hurt right over my kidneys. Right I did nothing but was about. It was just as though a knife were thrust into my back. I couldn't bend over without terrible pain and I would fall to my knees and crawl along to get hold of something to help myself up. Blinding dizziness and some of the terrible headaches added to my misery.
"I was rapidly losing weight and knew something would have to be done. I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and was more than surprised. The troubles were soon leaving me and six boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me entirely. To this day I have been free from kidney complaint."
